EVERY SOLDIER FROM EVERY STATE AT EVERY RANK

"...These works provide, for the first time, comprehensive indexes to the compiled Military Service Records of the United States National Archives, which contain the unit rosters for every organization in the Confederate and Union armies." — American Reference Books Annual 1998, vol. 29.

For Each Soldier the Rosters provide:

NAME (last, first, and middle) * STATE * UNIT OF SERVICE * HIGHEST RANK

The following entries are from the Roster of Confederate Soldiers, volume 5

Deramus, John H. MS 11th (Perrin's) Cav. Co.E Deramus, Joseph B. AL 6th Inf. Co.G Deramus, L.J. AL 8th (Livingston's) Cav. Co.A Deramus, William S.E. AL 6th Inf. Co.G Deramus, W.J. LA 19th Inf. UNTIL if you wanted to research and identify Civil War soldiers, what did you do?

NOW, You went to the National Archives and scrolled through thousands of microfilm reels; or you paid researchers' fees; or you bought the microfilm for thousands of dollars and spent hours going through difficult-to-read microfilm. Now, Broadfoot Publishing Company has transcribed the Confederate microfilm into an alphabetical index entitled Roster of Confederate Soldiers 1861-1865 and the Union microfilm into an alphabetical index by state entitled Roster of Union Soldiers 1861-1865 — and researching Civil War soldiers is as simple as opening a book. Included in the Rosters are all Civil War soldiers from all branches from all states.

Library Journal

June 1, 1997

A noted Civil War publisher has transcribed the 535 reels of microfilm that index the compiled Confederate service records at the National Archives to produce this important new reference set. Listed are the names of the entire Confederate Army (1.5 million names in all), including every soldier from every state at every rank, in an accumulative, alphabetical index. For each soldier, name, highest rank achieved, unit of service, and state are provided. Also provided is essential information for obtaining an actual military service record...and conducting research using printed materials, particularly published state rosters and military histories. Robert K. Krick, a specialist in Civil War History, has written a very useful introduction, including a helpful section on identifying and tracing Confederate Soldiers. The publisher will also issue a 33-volume Roster of Union Soldiers, 1861-1865. These blockbuster sets are essential tools for genealogists and Civil War researchers and are excellent candidates for acquisition by gift.

 The Roster of Union Soldiers, 1861-1865 has been published and is available through Broadfoot's.

Roster of Confederate Soldiers 1861-1865. Janet B. Hewett, ed. Wilmington, N.C., Broadfoot Publishing, 1995, 1996. 16v. $1,500/set. ISBN 1-56837-306-6.

Southerners and descendants of Confederate veterans in search of information on their Civil War ancestors should find the answer to their needs in this monumental new work. This, with its companion set, the 33-volume Roster of Union Soldiers 1861-1865, provides the best single source for locating information on individual soldiers in both armies in the war between the states. Even more important than their value as cumulative rosters to the Union and Confederate armies, these works provide, for the first time, comprehensive indexes to the compiled Military Service Records of the United States National Archives, which contain the unit rosters for every organization in the Confederate and Union armies...easy to use...The basic information provided for each soldier is state, rank, military organization, and company...A valuable introductory essay discusses additional sources for identifying and finding information on Confederate soldiers, whether they are included in these volumes or not...* This work is highly recommended for every library with an interest in genealogy or the Civil War. *Bolding by Broadfoot

The Companion Set to the Roster of Confederate Soldiers

For Confederate research, the State Rosters are the fastest and most helpful resource for military unit rosters and identifying soldiers by unit or state affiliation.

CONFEDERATE STATE ROSTERS

* 27 Volumes *

Separate roster and unit volumes for the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas and Virginia.

The first volume of each state roster is an alphabetical listing of all Confederate soldiers from that state; providing full name, unit, company and rank.

The second volume for each state organizes the Confederate soldiers from that state into military units—artillery, cavalry, and infantry—with units under each category in numerical order and all the soldiers in each unit in alphabetical order. Thus, if you're interested in the 5th South Carolina Infantry, look in the military roster volume for South Carolina and under the 5th South Carolina Infantry you'll find an alphabetical roster of all the soldiers in the 5th South Carolina most helpful if you're studying, writing about or researching a Confederate military unit, ancestor, soldier, etc.

EACH STATE ROSTER ALSO INCLUDES EVERY GENERAL OFFICER AFFILIATED WITH THAT STATE AND HIS STAFF.

All of these rosters are also indexes to Confederate Service Records, unlike other rosters which have corrected names and information and have thus lost the ability to provide the key to access service records. Each name in these rosters establishes that there is a service record for the soldier listed and provides the exact information—(name, rank, unit) for accessing the service record—and with the service record lies the meat of the matter.

— The Civil War in Books

COMPLETE YOUR SET OF THE OFFICIAL RECORDS

THE SUPPLEMENT TO THE OFFICIAL RECORDS OF THE UNION & CONFEDERATE ARMIES

All of the Information Left Out of the Original Official Records

What is the Supplement?

The original Official Records of the Civil War consists of 128 volumes which contain official reports, correspondence, courts-martial where they explain battles, and a smattering of troop itineraries scattered in with battle accounts. However, much material was left out of the original edition. Numerous reports were not sent in and Confederates were reluctant to contribute to a work compiled by Yankees entitled "War of the Rebellion." Thus, the original Official Records were incomplete—however, this situation is being remedied.

For over 20 years we have been collecting, transcribing, typesetting and indexing the material which was left out of the original Official Records. To that end, we have tried to obtain, regardless of expense or labor, all of the material left out of the original Official Records.

- What does it contain? -

SOLDIERS: NAMES & INFORMATION

The Supplement contains twice as many names as does the original Official Records and, whereas most of the names in the original Official Records are of men ranking major and above (think of the thousands of occurrences of Lee, Grant, Sherman, etc.), most of the names in the Supplement are ranked below major and it is in the lower ranks that names and information are hardest to come by. Most of these citations provide the full name, rank, regiment, company, and often the location of the soldier at a particular time. Hundreds of thousands of names have been researched and identified further than their initials, as far as possible.

PLACES: NAMES & INFORMATION

The Supplement has thousands of names—creeks, crossroads, ferries, fords, mills, etc. Our entries have been checked against the Official Record Atlas and identified, whenever possible; you can use these names that were given as a locale specification as a secondary source for research, in addition to the military names.

RECORDS OF EVENTS & ITINERARIES OF THE UNITS

The Records of Events and Itineraries of the Units for both Union and Confederate military organizations, as transcribed from 299 reels of microfilm in the National Archives (225 reels Union and 74 reels Confederate) has been published alphabetically by state. Under each state the regiments and companies are arranged numerically, with information for each unit presented chronologically. Most regiments have substantial coverage of the day-by-day records of the regiments and companies, where they marched, the rations and arms, clothing, skirmishes, battles, etc. Thus if you are researching a battle and know the units involved, you can look in the Records of Events & Itineraries and find the unit reports on the battle down to the company level.

OFFICIAL REPORTS

All of the official reports, Union and Confederate, left out of the original publication. The material is arranged exactly like the original Official Records, that is, chronological by subject (i.e., all the Gettysburg material will be under Gettysburg). There are 12 volumes of Reports, including a cumulative, every name, place, subject comprehensive index.

THE INDEX

The whole set is completely and thoroughly indexed: Every Name, Battle, Subject, etc. Broadfoot Publishing Company is well-known for the quality and depth of our indexes. This index contains over 1,000,000 entries.

Sources

Professional researchers searched from Maine to California, scouring libraries, museums, and archives for material left out of the Official Records. We also combed previously printed sources for appropriate material. Someone worked full-time reading the approximately 63,000 newspapers published in the Confederacy (the official reports in the Union newspapers were included in the Official Records). We called in our chips and pulled whatever strings we could to persuade private collectors to share their material with us. They have been most generous. (WILL NOT BE OFFERED ON CD ROM.)

OHIO TROOPS (UNION) — INFANTRY.

communication with General Burnside thence ceased. As the enemy threatened us at Kingston, our picket and fatigue duties were severe.

November 24.— The company and regiment took part in a sharp skirmish at Kingston.

December 4.— The company, with the regiment, left camp at Kingston for Loudon and had a slight skirmish eight miles out.

December 5.— Arrived at Loudon.

December 6.— Our communication with General Burnside was renewed.

December 9.— Arrived at Knoxville.

December 10.— Left Knoxville.

December 15.— Was paid and went into camp at Blain's Cross-Roads the same day.

December 25.— Left camp and stayed at New Market, Tennessee.

December 27.— Marched three miles to Mossy Creek.

December 29.— The regiment and company engaged the enemy in a severe fight for two hours. Charged and repulsed them. The company had three men slightly wounded. For the past two months, the men have been short of rations, very deficient in clothing and exposed to severe weather. For these reasons they have suffered a great deal, all of which has been borne with a great degree of cheerfulness, but in the hope that we may soon be better fed and clothed.

Stationed at Strawberry Plains, Tennessee, January-February 1864.

January 19.— The company and regiment remained at Mossy Creek, Tennessee until January 19, when the command fell back to Strawberry Plains. Thence [marched] to the vicinity of Knoxville, Tennessee, where it remained.

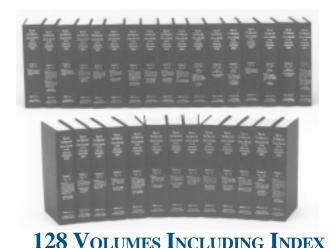

February 24.— With General [Henry Moses] Judah's Division, it went to Strawberry Plains. No events of special interest have transpired during the last sixty days.

Stationed at Calhoun, Tennessee, March-April 1864.

Stationed near Kenesaw Mountain, Georgia, May-June 1864.

Last chance to replace your worn out set!

Do you need INDIVIDUAL volumes of the Army or Navy Official Records? This may be your last chance to complete full sets, fill in gaps, purchase wanted battles, campaigns, etc. If you need volumes not offered here, send us a list by serial or volume number and we will quote on what we have available.

"The Official Records have dominated Civil War research for three quarters of a century...any military study treating the conflict of the 1860s must, of necessity, have the Official Records as its base." — James I. Robertson 138,597 pages of Civil War source material — averaging over 1,000 pages per book.

Each book is individually indexed; in addition, there is a separate General Index.

Our "reprint" edition of the Official Records is a vast improvement over the "government original." All 138,597 pages are printed on an excellent grade of acid-free paper which will not wear, deteriorate or discolor, and the binding is linen-textured buckram, impregnated with pyroxylin to withstand wear and tear. An additional improvement to the "government original" is the numbering system on the spines. In the original, volume numbers appeared on each book in Roman numerals. We have used both Roman and Arabic numerals for ease in organizing and indentifying volumes.

In 1888, the Secretary of the U.S. Navy acknowledged the historical value of the Army Official Records, and stated that the Naval records "are of equal importance and demand equal attention. Without them the record is incomplete."

This comprehensive guide to all Civil War naval operations is presented, like the Army Official Records, chronologically by geographic regions, and is easily used hand in hand with that set. The Official Records of the Union and Confederate Navies in the War of the Rebellion provides the most thorough foundation of primary source material on Civil War naval operations.

What is the Confederate Veteran...?

The Veteran is the largest, and most interesting source of information concerning the Confederate soldier ever published; 20,000 pages written by Confederates, for Confederates on matters of interest to Confederates; material not available anywhere else. The Veteran recorded, in his own words, the experiences and life of the man in gray during and after the War. It was his publication. As Confederate G.T. Morgan of Russellville, Kentucky, wrote, "I am one of the boys, and I take the Veteran." In essence, the Veteran is the spirit of the Confederate soldier and the Confederacy. Read but a few pages and you will understand what Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman, the greatest Confederate historian, meant when he wrote, "One never gets fully the picture of the Confederacy...until one has read...the Veteran."

In reading the Veteran you won't learn all there is to know about the War, you won't become a master of tactics, nor will your every question about the Conflict be answered, but you will understand, as well as you ever will—or ever can—the man who was the Confederate soldier. That sounds like a tall order, however, see for yourself. Begin your subscription, turn to any page and start reading. In addition to getting to know the Confederate soldier, you'll have many hours of enjoyable, informative, and entertaining reading.

When was the Veteran first published and what was its purpose?

The Veteran was first published as a monthly magazine by S.A. Cunningham in Nashville from 1893-1932. Its stated purpose was "an organ of communication between Confederate soldiers and those who are interested in them and their affairs."

Will the Veteran interest me?

If your interests are strictly blue (Yankee), then the Veteran isn't for you. However, if you are interested in any of the following, you will enjoy the Veteran.

- GENEALOGY In the Veteran there are thousands of biographical sketches and obituaries—many with pictures, war records, and family information. There are 250,000 names in the Index. The Veteran is a great place to hunt for ancestors.
- THE CONFEDERATE SOLDIER AND THE CONFEDERACY— The Veteran is the largest primary source for the Confederate soldier and the Confederacy.
- THE CIVIL WAR The Veteran is the largest collection of first-hand battle accounts by Confederates and covers one side of the war rather thoroughly.
- SOUTHERN WOMEN The Veteran contains hundreds of articles on Southern women as well as the largest published collection of images of Southern women for the period 1890-1930.
- The CONFEDERATE VETERANS, The UNITED DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY and The SONS OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS— The Veteran was the official publication of these organizations and is the largest source of information on them.
- PHOTOGRAPHS AND DRAWINGS The Veteran is the largest collection of visual material on Confederate related subjects; soldiers and their families, flags, battle maps, monuments, horses, reunions, soldiers homes, battlefields, etc.
- TALL TALES AND HUMOR— Though lacking shoes and other essentials, the men in gray provided themselves well with laughter. Their delight in tall tales, practical jokes and pranks is well represented and preserved in the Veteran.
- SOCIAL HISTORY OF THE SOUTH— The Veteran is an invaluable source for the broad social history of the South during four crucial decades, including advertisements, illustrations and architecture. Gatherings and reunions—large and small—were covered, including regimental reunions.

What is Confederate Military History...?

It is the best and most used source for Confederate military history. It was first published in 1899 by General Clement A. Evans in 12 volumes. The volumes were written by former Confederates, many of them famous in their own right; men such as Jed Hotchkiss, Joe Wheeler, Bradley Johnson and Ellison Capers. Confederate Military History details the military history of the Confederacy and of each Confederate state. Each volume includes eye-witness battle accounts, first-hand narratives and maps and military organizational charts. There are 156 detailed battle maps, some folding, in the set. The state volumes conclude with biographies of the general officers from that state.

Who says Confederate Military History is great—besides Tom Broadfoot—who isn't exactly a disinterested party?

"...good and useful..." IN TALL COTTON, #54—Richard Harwell (greatest Confederate bibliographer)

"An unrivaled mine of fact." THE SOUTH TO POSTERITY—Douglas Southall Freeman (greatest Confederate scholar)

"An excellent reference work...valuable biographical sketches." CIVIL WAR BOOKS-

A CRITICAL BIBLIOGRAPHY (best guide to Civil War books)

"...this set continues to offer a large amount of useful infomation for researchers investigating the military history of the Confederacy." —THE CIVIL WAR IN BOOKS

How does the "Extended" Edition compare to the regular edition?

- A. The extended edition has fifteen times as many biographies of Confederates as the regular edition. The regular edition covers only generals, whereas the extended edition includes biographies of men of all ranks (including privates). Also in the extended volumes are 132 additional illustrations of Confederate soldiers—most in uniform.
- B. The extended edition includes the very rare volume Confederates in the North—never before published.
- C. Last, and most important, for this extended edition Broadfoot's has compiled a two-volume, 1322-page cumulative and subjective index which references every name and important fact in Confederate Military History in an easy-to-find manner. The original edition has no real index, only a 34-page listing of highlights.

Has the Extended Edition of Confederate Military History ever been published as a set before?

Never. Evans published the extended volumes in small quantities over several years and they were never offered as a set. For several of these volumes, there is only one copy known—the one we reprinted from. Why Evans published extended volumes and why in so few copies is a Civil War bibliographic mystery.

I'm a reader, not a researcher. Will I enjoy Confederate Military History?

Yes. The men who wrote the volumes were soldiers, not scholars, and their accounts are quite readable, lively and straightforward. Their first-hand accounts are not burdened by the footnotes and academic trappings that so often weigh down later second-hand scholarly studies.

"This is the story of the war by the men who fought it."

Can I buy individual volumes and the index separately?

No problem. Individual volumes are $75 each, plus postage, and the 2-volume index is $200. See our price sheet for a listing of available volumes (Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina are sold out).

What is

The Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States?

"The coverage touches all aspects, all theaters, all phases of the war. Much of inestimable value lies within the set, and its literary quality is far greater overall than other, similar reminiscences. The Broadfoot republication supersedes the original set..."

— The Civil War in Books

By far the best collection of first-hand Union accounts, the MOLLUS volumes were written by men who were active participants in the Civil War. The MOLLUS volumes, originally published 1887-1915, are enhanced with illustrations, portraits, maps (some folding), and plans. We have reprinted the entire series, as well as never-before-published material, including new introductions, biographical sketches of the contributors by Bill Marvel, pictures of the contributors and a thorough, every name, every subject cumulative index.

After the War, a group of Union veterans met in Philadelphia and formed the organization known as Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, usually referred to as MOLLUS, composed of Army, Navy and Marine Corps officers who had served in the Civil War. The main accomplishment of MOLLUS was the preservation of the Veterans' reminiscences and war service in books and papers published by the individual states, by far the best collection of firsthand accounts of life in camp, battle and prison. MOLLUS is, in effect, the Union counterpart of the Confederate Veteran. However, unlike Confederate Veteran, these volumes are entirely war content and do not feature advertisements, editorials, etc. Many of the volumes are scarce, some are unique, and some exist only in typescript. This is the first time a complete set of MOLLUS papers has ever been assembled. This publication unlocks, with the aid of our comprehensive index, the wealth of material in MOLLUS.

- Sturdy Cloth Covers

- Gold Stamping
- Addendums (Vols. 1-7)
- Matching Dust Jackets (unlike previous sets)

The best biographical roster of Confederate soldiers by any southern state. Approximately one-fourth of the soldiers in the Confederate armies were comprised of North Carolina's sixty-odd regiments. Proper credit for this contribution was never accorded until the North Carolina Division of Archives and History began this superb series of unit histories complete with thumbnail biographies of each soldier based on a variety of sources, including cemetery records and newspaper accounts. A history of each regiment's service is followed by a roster of its officers and men, and their individual records.

CO. B. 8TH REGIMENT N. C. STATE TROOPS

COMPANY B

This company, known as Shaw Guards, was from Currituck County and was mustered in at Camp Macon, near Warrenton, Warren County, September 14, 1861, as Company B. After joining the regiment the company functioned as a part of the regiment, and its history for the war period is recorded as a part of the regimental history.

The information contained in the following roster of the company was compiled principally from a company muster-in and descriptive roll dated September 14, 1861, and from company muster rolls for January, 1862, through April, 1863, and for July, 1863, through October, 1864. No company muster rolls were found for the period prior to January, 1862; for May through June, 1863; or for the period after October, 1864. In addition to the company muster rolls, Roll of Honor records, receipt rolls, hospital records, prisoner of war records, and other primary records, supplemented by state pension applications, United Daughters of the Confederacy records, and postwar rosters and histories, all provided useful information.

OFFICERS

WHITSON, JAMES M.

Born in Currituck County where he resided as a farmer prior to enlisting in Currituck County at age 35. Appointed Captain to rank from May 16, 1861. Captured at Roanoke Island on February 8, 1862, and paroled at Elizabeth City on February 21, 1862. Reported in confinement at Fort Columbus, New York Harbor, in September, 1862, and was transferred to Aiken's Landing, James River, Virginia, October 4, 1862, for exchange. Present or accounted for until promoted to Major to rank from April 22, 1863, and transferred to the Field and Staff of this regiment.

* JARVIS, THOMAS JORDAN

Born in Currituck County where he resided prior to enlisting at age 25. May 16, 1861, for the war. Appointed 1st Lieutenant to rank from May 16, 1861. Captured at Roanoke Island on February 8, 1862, and paroled at Elizabeth City on February 21, 1862. Declared exchanged at Aiken's Landing, James River, Virginia, November 10, 1862. Promoted to Captain to rank from April 22, 1863, and present or accounted for until wounded in the right shoulder at Drewry's Bluff, Virginia, May 14, 1864. Reported absent wounded through January 2, 1865.

LIEUTENANTS

BALLANCE, JAMES W., 2nd Lieutenant

Born in Currituck County where he resided as a clerk prior to enlisting in Currituck County at age 20, August 1, 1861, for the war. Mustered in as Sergeant. Captured at Roanoke Island on February 8, 1862, and paroled at Elizabeth City on February 21, 1862. Declared exchanged at Aiken's Landing, James River, Virginia, November 10, 1862. Appointed 3rd Lieutenant to rank from May 14, 1863, and promoted to 2nd Lieutenant on January 14, 1864. Present or accounted for until killed at Bermuda Hundred, Virginia, May 21, 1864.

BAXTER, ENOCH F., 2nd Lieutenant

Resided in Currituck County and enlisted at age 29. Appointed 2nd Lieutenant to rank from May 16, 1861. Present or accounted for through November, 1862. Resigned January 16, 1863. Reason he resigned not reported.

Present or accounted for until captured at Cold Harbor, Virginia, May 31, 1864. Confined at Point Lookout, Maryland, until transferred to Fort Delaware, Delaware, June 23, 1864. Paroled at Fort Delaware and transferred to Cox's Landing, James River, Virginia, where he was received October 15, 1864, for exchange. Present or accounted for until he resigned on January 3, 1865, by reason of the fact that "I prefer the ranks to my present position."

NONCOMMISSIONED OFFICERS AND PRIVATES

AUSTIN, DANIEL, Private

Resided in Currituck County and was by occupation a seaman. Place and date of enlistment not reported. Captured near Washington. North Carolina, February 10-12, 1864. Confined at Fort Monroe, Virginia, until transferred to Point Lookout, Maryland, where he arrived February 26, 1864. Refused to be exchanged. Released at Point Lookout on May 12, 1865, after taking the Oath of Allegiance.

BALANGA, SILVA, Private

Enlisted in Lenoir County on November 7, 1863, for the war. Present or accounted for until "...one of the most indispensable works for the Army of Northern Virginia." —Douglas S. Freeman

Individual Histories of the NORTH CAROLINA REGIMENTS Written by Tar Heel Confederates Sole Source

HISTORIES OF THE SEVERAL REGIMENTS AND BATTALIONS FROM NORTH CAROLINA IN THE GREAT WAR 1861-1865

~ 5 Volumes ~

Edited by Walter Clark

"This was a historical undertaking of a magnitude matched by no other single state."

—IN TALL COTTON #24

North Carolina sent more men into the Confederate army and lost more dead than any other Southern state. Thousands of infantrymen from the North State were present in the final assault at Gettysburg. In late 1894, work was begun on a compilation of histories of each regiment and organization from North Carolina which served in the Confederate army. Judge Walter Clark was chosen to edit and to select an author from each command. The completed work appeared in 1901.

North Carolina Regiments, as it came to be called, is a massive work of five volumes totaling more than 4,000 pages. The contributors include most of the North Carolina generals still living at the time, and many officers from the respective commands. In addition to the regimental histories, there are sketches of brigades, accounts of battles in which North Carolinians fought, lists of officers, a roster of North Carolinians who surrendered at Appomattox, and articles on North Carolina prisoners in the North, the Home Guard, the Medical Corps, and numerous other topics. Several hundred portraits, many of them available nowhere else, accompany the text and are an especially valuable part of the set.

Histories of the Several Regiments from North Carolina in the Great War 1861-1865

THE TWO BROTHERS.

By CAPTAIN DAVID G. MAXWELL, Co. H, THIRTY-FIFTH REGIMENT, NORTH CAROLINA TROOPS.

The fortune of war was never more strikingly portrayed perhaps than by the two pictures opposite, entitled "Before and After," of two brothers, soldier boys of Mecklenburg County, who enlisted in Company B, Thirteenth North Carolina Regiment, in April, 1861. The first picture of the boys, L. J. and H. J. Walker, of Mecklenburg County, in their Confederate uniforms, and with left hands clasped, was taken in 1861 a short while after enlistment. The second picture was taken some time after the war, the brothers in the same position as the first with left hands clasped, but the left leg of each does not appear in the picture. The leg of one brother was buried at Gettysburg, Pa., and that of the other at Hagerstown, Md. L. J. Walker, the younger brother, was wounded 1 July, 1863, he being the fifth color-bearer to be shot down in the charge on Cemetery Hill at Gettysburg. His leg was amputated at the field hospital by Dr. John H. McAden, of Charlotte. He was afterwards taken prisoner and sent to David's Island, N. Y. H. J. Walker, the elder brother, participated in the three days' engagement at Gettysburg, coming out unhurt, but on the retreat, 13 July, while on skirmish line near Hagerstown, Md., he was wounded in the left leg, conveyed to the field hospital and his leg amputated by the late Dr. Campbell, of Statesville. Young Walker was put in an ambulance and taken to Martinsburg, Va., and a few days thereafter was taken prisoner and sent to Johnson's Island, Ohio, and remained there until April,

The brothers were poor boys and reared on the farm. They are now in affluent circumstances, and are honored citizens of Charlotte. Dr. H. J. Walker, the elder, studied medicine after the war, and now enjoys a good practice and owns two

THE COLONIAL AND STATE RECORDS OF NORTH CAROLINA

30 Volumes (in 28 books)

COLONIAL RECORDS-10 Volumes ★ STATE RECORDS-16 Volumes ★ INDEX-4 Volumes (printed in 2 books)

The most important genealogical and historical source for North Carolina through 1790.

Under a mandate from the State, William L. Saunders gathered and edited the Colonial Records, bringing together documents from all known sources, including state and public repositories, private collections, and records in London and other European repositories. Walter Clark continued the effort and, in 14 years, gathered, edited, and published the State Records. Stephen B. Weeks indexed the whole, including "every proper name and every proper adjective every time it occurs, and each different connection; to index under each heading to which it can properly be assigned every historical fact that is sufficiently full in itself without the necessity of cross-references."

In this edition, the 1790 Caswell County Tax List has been completed, giving (where applicable), person's names, acres of land, white polls, black polls, stud horses, wheels. The original edition listed only the "head of the Household."

The 30-volume set, The Colonial and State Records of North Carolina, is the most important resource for North Carolina history and genealogy through 1790—the whole expertly and thoroughly indexed.

HISTORY OF PENNSYLVANIA VOLUNTEERS

By Samuel P. Bates
14 Volumes

[The Index is applicable to all editions]

What is History of the Pennsylvania Volunteers?

The History of Pennyslvania Volunteers was compiled by Samuel P. Bates at the request of the state legislature. It is a thorough history and roster of the regiments and soldiers from Pennsylvania. For each regiment there is a regimental sketch. These sketches average 10-16 pages each and provide the history of the regiment, noting the battles in which the regiment participated. The rosters follow the regimental sketches. These begin with a listing of field and staff officers, giving full name, rank, date of muster into service, term, and a notation as to service, i.e., promoted, dismissed, mustered out, deserted, etc. Following the officers roster is a compilation of the enlisted men, giving the same information. The volumes include maps and illustrations. Bates' undertaking was a prodigious one and he did it well.

— OUR REPRINT —

14 volumes—10 volumes of text plus a 4 volume index—eliminating the unwieldy size of the original. Instead of having 1,400 pages per volume (as does the original) our reprint averages 700 pages per volume, thus enabling us to use thicker, tougher acid-free paper, and also avoiding the problem common to very thick volumes of having the binding come apart. The text size is not reduced—we just eliminated the oversize margins.

— The NEW Index applicable to all editions! —

Our reprint includes an every name, 300,000 entry cumulative index which enables Bates to be used easily—as it is, unless one knows which regiment someone served in, it's impossible to find them in Bates. With our cumulative index, the set is infinitely easier to use. Each index entry includes: last name, first name, middle initial or name (where given), rank, unit, and page number in Bates. Our Index is also applicable to the original edition as we have used the same pagination.

Pass back into time and relive events of the Civil War in the words of the most perceptive men of the Conflict.

These volumes stand as one of the most comprehensive and literate anthologies from any military event in history. To open one is to pass back in time and relive events of the Civil War in the words of the most perceptive men of the conflict—experts in their field. Among them are monographs on Naval history by Alfred Thayer Mahan, the foremost naval historian of his (or perhaps any) time, a critique of Civil War artillery by Henry J. Hunt, the War's preeminent artillerist, and a paper on Fredericksburg by Lieutenant Colonel William Allan, CSA., to highlight but a few. A perusal of the content and authors of each volume will affirm that this series exemplifies Civil War scholarship and history at the highest level, written by men such as Charles Francis Adams, Archer Anderson (CSA), Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain, Henry Kyd Douglas (CSA), George Henry Gordon, Henry Heth (CSA), Jededia Hotchkiss (CSA), Andrew A. Southern Bivouac: A Monthly Literary and Historical Magazine was published in Louisville between 1882 and 1887 by the Kentucky branch of the Southern Historical Society. The publication included historical papers read before the association, short stories about the Civil War, sketches of soldiers distinguished in the war, poetry, and miscellaneous articles related to Southern life. The magazine was directed at the Confederate soldier, his family, and friends of the South...an attempt to reproduce and preserve in permanent form the life and times of the Confederacy. With so much attention given the Union soldier in the press after the Civil War, it was only natural that the Confederate Johnny Reb be given an opportunity to tell his side of the Civil War. —Encyclopedia of Southern History

In July 1888 the editors of The Rifle periodical decided to broaden the scope of the subject matter included in their publication and renamed it Shooting & Fishing, hoping to garner enough support to warrant more frequent and consistent issues.

This inclusive index combines The Rifle (May 1885 - June 1888, first indexed by Broadfoot Publishing Company in 1990) with Shooting & Fishing (July 1888 - December 1906).

The Index includes names, events, places, manufacturers, guns (categorized and cross-referenced), shooting and fishing clubs, game, and ammunition, to name just a few types of the 245,567 entries. Also indexed are titles of articles (shown in all caps), authors of the articles, and illustrations.

Shooting and Fishing includes thousands of entries pertaining to numerous other outdoor pursuits, such as archery, camping, canoeing, hunting, photography, and snow-shoeing. For individuals, if a score, match, or medal was noted, it was entered as a sub-category under that person's name. We have cross-referenced and sub-categorized many entries, i.e. gun sights, targets, and ammunition. State fishing and gaming laws were indexed and cross-referenced by state. Besides state-related notations, there are also entries of interest to other countries, such as England and Canada.

The sportsmen of a bygone era have recorded fascinating stories, facts, and trivia within this Shooting and Fishing publication. Now with the new 3-volume index, it is possible to quickly locate key subject interests, whether for research or reading pleasure.

THE RECKLESS HUNTER.

Last week we referred briefly to two accidental deaths by shooting, which occurred in the Adirondack woods. From the reports received it would seem that both of these accidents occurred because of the recklessness of the hunters in firing at indistinct objects, which were thought to be deer. This is not the first time such accidents have occurred, and we know it will not be the last; perhaps it will not be the last with these unfortunate hunters, for if reports be true, one of the hunters did the same thing last year, killing his son then, as he did this year. Our readers well know that we have frequently referred to these accidents and suggested remedies, and even at the risk of repeating our injunctions we feel impelled to continue our warnings.

Sportsmen who go into the woods to hunt, and by careful training have learned to withhold their fire when uncertain of what is before them, have a right to complain; yes, and demand that reckless sportsmen be curbed.

There are men who hunt who are both careless and selfish. They fire at bushes when seen to move, at spots they imagine may be an exposed part of game, at game which is in the direction of other sportsmen, at game far out of range and making toward other sportsmen. We have seen such things occur many times, and know of accidents occurring from all of these unsportsmanlike acts.

Accidents occurring from such causes are generally condoned. We are aware that mishaps will occur in the field even with very careful persons, but nevertheless it is a fact that nearly all accidents some persons are not allowed to shoot, because their repeated acts of carelessness have caused them to be regarded as dangerous persons to handle fire arms. Sportsmen who hunt and know the danger of a reckless person in the field, are giving much thought to the problem-how to protect themselves.

It has been suggested that the gun license system is the best way to remedy the existing danger. It is not recommended that a high license be adopted, (a mere nominal fee has been mentioned); but those who hunt should be registered, and persons who are known to be reckless be denied the privilege of shooting in the field. Such a system has many objections, but some good points. We would much prefer to see the persons who shoot educated up to coolness and carefulness, as specified in the foregoing resolutions; but if this cannot be done and the number of accidents continue, it seems likely that some drastic measures will have to be adopted.

STOCKING COLORADO STREAMS.

Colorado was for a number of years indifferent as to retaining its fish supply. Various illegal means of taking fish were employed and practiced, too, by those who should have had more foresight, and as a result many Colorado streams are almost destitute of native trout. One of our trustworthy correspondents writes us that a marked change has taken place among the people of the state in favor of fish protection; the press, too, is now doing grand work in educating the people to the importance of proper protection by maintaining the laws and the propagation of fish.

It is said that in some of the rivers of Colorado the native fish are nearly extinct, and eastern trout have taken their place by fish propagation, and a great deal more of this work is now being done. This will prove a grand investment for the State of Colorado. It will supply food for thousands of people living adjacent to the streams and furnish spots for the thousands who will seek the state for rest, recreation, and sport.

In speaking of the possibilities of trout propagation in Colorado, J. J. Stranahan, superintendent of the United States fish commission station at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, recently said:

"Colorado will be the greatest trout state in America. It is peculiarly adapted for the propagation of trout, although not for many other species of the finny tribe. Moreover, the red speckled, or what you might call the eastern trout, will, perhaps, thrive better in Colorado than in its native streams. I fished at Bailey station, that state, in 1879, and took from the streams there 332 black speckled beauties in one day. That gave me an idea of what the streams were capable.

"The Leadville trout hatchery is the largest in point of production of any in the United States. It is propagating millions of the species, and the fry, when turned into the creeks, multiply in a surprising manner. Aside from the big rainbow trout, Colorado is going to be the spot ideal in America for sport of this character. When you advertise your gold mines tell also of your trout streams."

It is said that the daily product of Krag-Jorgensen rifles at the United States armory at Springfield, Mass., is about 300. The Mauser rifles captured from the Spaniards will soon arrive at the armory, and some of them will probably be altered to take the United States .30 caliber cartridge. This will enable experts to judge the comparative merits of the Krag-Jorgensen and the Mauser rifle shooting the same ammunition.

The Aberdeen (S. D.) Gun Club has decided to make a united effort to prevent the shooting of prairie chickens on Sunday. A fund has been raised to defray the expenses of the work, and twenty-five members have volunteered to patrol the country on wheels and by carriage, to see that the law against Sunday shooting is enforced. Anyone caught breaking the law will be prosecuted to the fullest extent.

The open season for reed and rail birds opened in Delaware Sept. 1. Our correspondents report reed birds abundant, but a notable scarcity of rail birds. The birds already killed were in poor condition, and the weather on the opening day and since has made shooting on the marshes very unpleasant.

The game wardens of Minnesota now confiscate dogs and guns of those caught shooting game out of season. Already they have confiscated a number of fine guns and a dog or two. A fine is also imposed upon those caught doing illegal shooting.

RECENT PUBLICATIONS.

THE TROUT. By the Marquis of Granby, with Chapters on Breeding, by Col. F. H. Custance; Cookery, by Alexander Innis Shand. Illustrated by J. E. Grace, and from photographs. Longmans, Green & Co., publishers, London, New York, and Bombay.

This is another book in the Fur, Feather and Fin series. Under Trout Fishing the following subjects are treated: Fly Fishing for Trout; Lake Fishing; Worm Fishing and Spinning for Trout; River Preserving and River Poaching; Fishing Generalities; Some Heavy Baskets and Big Fish; Grayling Fishing. Under Trout Breeding are these subjects: Historical: Rearing; Stocking.

The book is entertainingly written, but it describes English trout fishing wholly, a sport we should say was more scientific than is the same sport in America. We should judge from the text and illustrations that the trout of Great Britain were highly educated, and that the art of stalking to reach a point of vantage was quite as essential as delicate and proper casting and skill in landing the fish. The author of the trout fishing part of the book says, "Trout fishing has become vastly more popular than it was twenty years ago, and the number of its adherents has largely increased." He says, too, that "nearly every one of the great army of anglers nowadays fishes up stream with the dry fly; that is, whenever such method be practicable;" and also that "on hardly any river, whether it be open to the public or strictly preserved private water, is the use of anything else than artificial fly allowed." We should say, from reading this work, "The Journal offers a wealth of significant data and should be reprinted and made more - The Civil War in Books widely available."

"One of the premier early reference works on Civil War history, now virtually ignored, this set offers a view of Confederate legislation of inestimable value. Its content defines numerous military and social laws and events of the Confederacy." – The Civil War in Books.

This set is rare in any condition, is seldom found on the market and sells for $1000 and more. Each volume is individually indexed in detail. The index in volume 7 is a cumulative 119-page index of over 15,000 subjects & names with approximately 24,000 citations.

The Journal of the Congress of the Confederate States of America 1861-1865 contains the records of the Provisional Congress (House and Senate) of the Confederacy. Included are ordinances of secession; lists of delegates; proceedings of open and secret sessions; tests of bills and resolutions; records of votes cast; communications to and from the Congress, which includes documents relating to Jefferson Davis and his cabinet; and records of the Confederate States of America Constitutional Convention.

The Journal is quite detailed and sheds light on the Confederate government's authority invoked in matters such as raising and outfitting troops, officer appointments, construction of defensive railway lines, Naval affairs, Indian affairs and international relations. Included are the records of how the Confederacy dealt with replacing services needed for its citizens, such as developing a Postal system and establishing a Veterans' Soldier Home. It was also necessary to implement a new Patent Office and provide copyright protection for Confederate authors and composers. The Journal includes the proposals to create numerous obligatory governmental departments and branches. Also among the first tasks undertaken were the implementation of committees on new financial systems and judicial systems. No matter how odd, each judicial petition was recorded, including the request of Ladislas Wankowicz that the Confederate government authorize his name change, and the unusual demand by another citizen that damages be paid to him due to his being detained by Confederate officials, which resulted in him being unable to attend his own trial for treason.

Resolutions, bills, and acts were passed relating to troops' conduct (including drunkenness), provisions (one-tenth of a farmer's sweet potato crop was to be furnished to the Confederate troops), and taxation (salt pork could be given to the government as an equivalent to the bacon tax). There are endless bills and resolutions regarding the raising of troops, and nearly as many asking for exemptions (in one town the ladies asked that the physicians be exempt; in yet another town the ladies pleaded for exemption on behalf of their clergy). Some enterprising citizens of La Fayette County, AR, petitioned the Confederate government to pay for their volunteer enlistees.

Records include claims and petitions from individuals, as well as entire towns—the ladies of Bristol, TN asked that manufacture of spirituous liquors be suppressed for the duration of the war. Appeals from individuals and special interest factions alike had to be dealt with and recorded (the merchants of New Orleans felt they should not have to pay tariff taxes during the war.)

The Journal contains a vast array of fascinating facts regarding the development and mechanics of the Confederate Government, the handling of endless appeals, claims and petitions, and the supervision of the countless governmental departments. The historical documentation of the Confederacy's inauguration is only a portion of the Journal's value as a primary source of Confederate literature. As a human interest read, the Journal also divulges the complexities and difficulties of a fledgling Confederacy trying to focus on the construction of a viable government, while dealing with the destruction of a Civil War.

JOURNAL OF THE

[Aug. 15, 1861.

Mr. Davis moved to amend the amendment by adding thereto the following, to wit:

and the capital stock of all corporations shall be returned, and the tax paid by the corporations themselves, and not by the individual stockholders.

The amendment was agreed to, and the question recurring upon agreeing to the amendment as amended, the same was agreed to. So the section as amended reads as follows, to wit:

Sec. 20. Corporations are intended to be embraced under the word persons, used in this act; and whenever the capital stock of any corporation is returned by the corporation itself and the tax paid, the stock in the hands of individuals shall be exempt from tax; and also all the real estate owned by the corporation and used for carrying on its business; and the capital stock of all corporations shall be returned, and the tax paid by the corporations themselves, and not by the individual stock-holders. The term merchandise is designed to embrace all goods, wares, and merchandise held for sale, except the agricultural products of the country. Money at interest is intended to include the principal sum of all money belonging to any person, other than a bank, upon which interest is paid or to be paid by the debtor, as the same stands on the first day of October. The term cattle, horses, and mules is intended to include all such animals as are raised for sale, and not such as are raised merely for food and work on the plantation or farm where they are held. The term real estate is intended to include all lands and estates therein, and all interest growing thereout, including ferries, bridges, mines, and the like, and in all cases the actual marketable value of property is to be assessed.

Section 21 being under consideration, Mr. Brockenbrough moved to amend by inserting after the word "altered" the following, to wit: or shall conspire or attempt to conspire with another to pass, utter, or publish, or attempt to pass, utter, or publish as true any falsely forged or counterfeited or any falsely altered Treasury note of the Confederate States, knowing the same to be falsely forged or counterfeited or falsely altered.

The amendment was agreed to, and the section as amended reads as follows, to wit:

Sac. 21. If any person shall, at any time during the existence of the present war between the Confederate States and the United States, or within one year after the ratification of a treaty of peace between them, falsely make, forge, or counterfeit, or cause or procure to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited, or willingly aid or assist in falsely making, forging, or counterfeiting any note in imitation of or purporting to be a Treasury note of the Confederate States; or shall falsely alter, or cause or procure to be falsely altered, or willingly aid or assist in falsely altering any Treasury note of the Confederate States; or shall pass, utter, or publish, or attempt to pass, utter, or publish as true any false, forged, or counterfeited note purporting to be a Treasury note of the Confederate States, knowing the same to be falsely altered Treasury note of the Confederate States, knowing the same to be falsely altered; or shall conspire or attempt to conspire with another to pass, utter, or publish, or attempt to pass, utter, or publish as true any falsely altered; or shall conspire or attempt to conspire with another to pass, utter, or publish, or attempt to pass, utter, or publish as true any falsely forged or counterfeited or any falsely altered Treasury note of the Confederate States, knowing the same to be falsely forged or counterfeited or falsely altered; overy such person shall be deemed and adjudged guilty of fetony, and being thereof convicted by due course of law, shall suffer death.

Section 22 being under consideration, Mr. Brockenbrough moved to amend by inserting after the word "altered" the following, to wit: or shall conspire or attempt to conspire with another to pass, utter, or publish, or attempt to pass, utter, or publish as true any false, forged, or counterfeited bond or coupon purporting to be a bond or coupon of the Confederate States, or any falsely altered bond or coupon of the Confederate States, knowing the same to be falsely forged or counterfeited or falsely altered.

The amendment was agreed to, and the section as amended reads as follows, to wit:

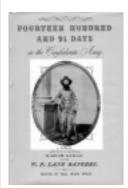

SEC. 22. If any person shall, at any time, falsely make, forge, or counterfeit, or cause or procure to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited, or willingly aid or assist in

Available again Just reprinted

William W. Heartsill

Probably the most unique book in Confederate history. This day-by-day account of a Texas private was originally hand-printed by its author from his war diary with photos of his old company pasted in. "This book would be of considerable interest because of the homespun way in which it was produced even if it were devoid of any other virtues. It is, however, a good narrative in its own right." —In Tall Cotton

A limited, numbered edition of this title. Laid into each volume is a sheet from the original manuscript, both sides written entirely in Heartsill's hand. Bound by hand using select goatskin imported from England and fine Italian bookcloth. Binding designed and crafted by Michael A. Hogle. Cover stamped in gold. Extra illustrated with an oversized tipped-in photograph of Captain Sam Richardson in his leopard skin britches plus three Civil War maps by Heartsill never before published. All original photographs reproduced. Printed on Mohawk Superfine 70 lb. white-smooth acid-free paper. Type entirely reset and enlarged. Complete new index.

GENEALOGY

Terrell & Eranda Covington Genealogy

By William Oates Covington, Jr.

The Covington family contributed much to the growth of post-Civil War industrialization of the south. The ten children of Terrell and Eranda Covington took advantage of opportunities to maximize their industrious nature. From the huge southern business of turpentine distillation, to naval stores, mercantile business and banking, the Covingtons were an entrepreneurial lot. They became business leaders and health professionals flourishing in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries.

The intermingling of the huge Bass, Capel, Chappell and Covington families spread throughout the south from a solid footing in Anson and Richmond County, North Carolina. Ancestral roots are traced back to the late 1400s. Photographs, charts, and family trees abound in this massive genealogy. Many interesting anecdotes relate to the beginning of the Coca-Cola Company, the Winn-Dixie Company, multiple Southern bank beginnings, and even how a baggage mix-up at the train station led to the marriage of M. E. Covington and M. E. Covington.

Full of family histories – family business – burgeoning new towns – hurricanes – relocations – through the generations – marriages – births – deaths

Fascinating family history – Kentucky – Florida – Georgia – South Carolina – Virginia –
North Carolina – Maryland

CIVIL WAR BOOKS—A PRICED CHECKLIST WITH ADVICE

Sole Source

by Tom Broadfoot

Published April 2000. Updated prices for thousands of Civil War Books with additional bibliographical information collected over the past 30+ years.

There have been major changes in the Civil War Book Market since the last edition of the Price Guide in 1996; changes not only in prices, both up and down, but also changes in the ways books are marketed. Truly, as Dylan wailed, "The times, they are a-changin'."

Also, since the last Price Guide was published, several major collections have been sold, comprising thousands of scarce titles, many previously unrecorded, resulting in significant additions to Civil War bibliography and values. We're incorporating it all in this edition, along with notations about dust jackets and their value.

CONFEDERATE EDGED WEAPONS

"THE definitive work on Confederate edged weapons."

222 pages, 126 illustrations, full color dust jacket, cloth, 8 1/2 x 11.

Completely redefines and clarifies the Confederate sword collecting field. The quality and clarity of the artwork allows collectors to compare examples in their own collections with those pictured for a positive identification. This volume also identifies many previously unknown Confederate swords and edged weapons as to maker. This book fully describes with line drawings and photos the swords, pikes, lances, bayonets, and bowie knives used in the Confederate service.

ISBN 1-56837-267-1 $35

Albaugh, William A., III, Hugh Benet, Jr., and Edward N. Simmons

CONFEDERATE HANDGUNS

272 pages, 115 illustrations, 1 map, cloth, stamped in gold 81/2 x 11.

The yet-to-be-exceeded bible on the various manufacturers of small arms for the Confederacy. To date, this book remains the sole readily available source of information on a number of the more obscure Confederate revolver manufacturers. In addition to over one hundred illustrations of Confederate handguns, this volume documents the beginnings, evolution, and eventual demise of the various firms.

ISBN 1-56837-261-2 $35

Albaugh, William A., III, and Richard D. Steuart HANDBOOK OF CONFEDERATE SWORDS

130 pages, 58 illustrations, bound in black simulated leather, stamped in gold, 7 x 10. This was the first published item Albaugh did on Confederate edged weaponry. A collector's item! The first effort to catalog and identify various makers of Confederate swords and match the makers with the known examples of their work. It is illustrated with 57 drawings by Albaugh.

MORE CONFEDERATE FACES

241 pages, 500+ photographs, 44-color plates, dust jacket, cloth, 81/2x11.

"Examples of little-known and previously unpublished Confederate photography."
The "sequel" to Confederate Faces and based on photographs of Confederates from Mr.
Albaugh's collection and other private collections. More Confederate Faces presents examples of little-known and previously unpublished photographs of Confederate soldiers.

ISBN 1-56837-259-0 $45

Albaugh, William A., III, and Richard D. Steuart THE ORIGINAL CONFEDERATE COLT The Story of the Leech & Rigdon and Rigdon-Ansley Revolvers

64 pages, 12 illustrations, bound in black simulated leather, stamped in gold, dust jacket, 7 x 10.

The authors trace the development of the partnership that supplied the Confederacy with these handguns. As the war progressed changes in design were effected which in later years caused considerable confusion among collectors. Albaugh and Steuart dispel all doubts by thoroughly covering each issue, each change and finally offer standard measurements and markings for these revolvers. The definitive work making possible the positive identification of Leech & Rigdon and Rigdon-Ansley style Navy revolvers and exploding the myth of there being other "Confederate" colts. This title has much additional information in the Addendum section at the rear of the book which was not included in Confederate Handguns.

PHOTOGRAPHIC SUPPLEMENT OF
CONFEDERATE SWORDS

220 pages, 288 photographs, full color dust jacket, cloth, 8 12/ \times 11.

"The accompanying volume to Confederate Edged Weapons using photographs instead of line drawings." Using photographs in place of line drawings and fine sword examples from both private and public collections, Mr. Albaugh has drawn a direct correlation between marked and unmarked examples of swords. Overall style and individual manufacturing characteristics place previously "unidentified" examples in the "known" category. A visual look at many of the confederate swords that are described in Confederate Edged Weapons. The addendum is included and adds 54 swords not shown in the original editions.

88 pages, index, 9 full-page illustrations, folding maps, dust jacket in full-color, cloth, 6 x 9. "A popular recital of the 1862 battle at Corinth and the ensuing court-martial of Confederate cavalryman Earl Van Dorn." —Civil War Books. An unembellished description of a small but important battle which completed the Union triumph at Shiloh. The written narrative has been enhanced by the editor's research and by an account of the court-martial of General Earl Van Dorn, the Confederate commander at Corinth. Cockrell's own account of the battle and map of the area are included.

Daly, Louise Haskell

ALEXANDER CHEVES HASKELL: The Portrait of a Man

290 pages, 4 illustrations, index, cloth, 6 x 9. "One of the grandest classics of Confederate literature." A reprint of the 1934 edition. NEW TO THIS EDITION: Edited by and new introduction by Lee Wallace, enhanced with an introduction, notes and biographical sketch of Haskell. Now indexed for the first time! Among the best and rarest of Confederate memoirs and one of the most collected of Confederate books. "One of the grandest classics of Confederate literature. . . . Haskell's battle descriptions are of extraordinary vividness and even savagery." -Robert Krick. Written by Haskell's daughter and based on her father's letters and a recollection that he wrote in 1908. Alexander Cheves Haskell was one of seven Haskell brothers from Abbeville, South Carolina that fought for the Confederacy. He was present at the shelling of Ft. Sumter, served throughout most of the war as a staff officer in the Gregg-McGowan, South Carolina brigade. He was severely wounded at Fredericksburg and again at Chancellorsville. He later was given command of the Seventh South Carolina Cavalry, and lost an eye at Darbytown Road. His unit was the last to evacuate Richmond, and it was Haskell who commanded the Confederate cavalry forces at the surrender at Appomattox.

Freeman, Douglas Southall

THE SOUTH TO POSTERITY: An Introduction to the Writing of Confederate History

In Tall Cotton #63 –235 pages, index, dust jacket, cloth, 6 x 9.

"...like a chat with the Sage of Westbourne—delightful, relaxing and thoroughly interesting." A selective bibliography of essential Confederate literature and a splendid fulfillment of Freeman's intention to help readers discover the best in books about the Confederacy. First published in 1939 reissued in a revised edition in 1951, enhanced with added material by Richard Harwell. Dr. Freeman here reviews those books which have the most enduring interest and possess those elements of conviction, of sincerity and of human appeal that have brought a new generation of Americans to an understanding of the Southern point of view. Johnston, J. Ambler

ECHOES OF 1861 – 1961

A limited edition of 500 copies, 250 of which are for sale to the public. 150 pages, printed on one side only, bound in gray cloth, spine and front boards stamped in gold, sewn not glued, head and footbands.

Echoes is now available in a second revised edition, proving that Johnston's prediction was wrong. His book is a charming collection of stories about battlefields, touring, preservation, and Virginia Civil War history. When young historian Douglas Southall Freeman investigated battlefields during the early 20th century, Johnston was his usual companion. Johnston tells of crashing through thick brush to find the Unfinished Railroad at Manassas, and of escorting famous international political figures around the battlefields. He also provides an important and insightful chapter of reminiscences about Dr. Freeman. A new index improves the utility of the book, and this edition certainly will receive wider circulation than its predecessor, and is destined to earn overdue appreciation.

Jones, Virgil Carrington THE CIVIL WAR AT SEA, 3 vols.

Vol. 1-The Blockaders-483 pages. Vol. 2-The River War -490 pages. Vol. 3-The Final Effort-456 pages. Illustrated, maps, index, illustrated endsheets, dust jackets, cloth, 5 3/4 x 8 1/2. "A useful and entertaining generalhistory of Civil War naval operations."-The Civil War in Books. "...an encompassing work, an excellent starting point for a study of the naval struggle of 1861-1865."-Civil War News. "A complete history of both navies, an authoritative and comprehensive account. From the muddy waters of the Mississippi, to the gales off Cape Hatteras, to the icy depths of the Arctic Ocean, it is here, with a cast of varies and remarkable individuals. Despite the valiant efforts of Southerners, the Union navy was a decisive factor in the ultimate victory. No one has given us a more readable account of that story than Pat Jones."-Jeffry Wert, Civil War News.

PARKER'S VIRGINIA BATTERY, C.S.A.

501 pages, 25 illustrations, 10 maps, index, cloth, 6 x 9.

"...a model for how a superb unit history should be written "-James I. Robertson. "Krick's effort takes his readers into the world of the Confederate artillery through the eyes of Parker's Battery. It remains a classic work." -Civil War News. "...a careful and interesting narrative, thoroughly backed by research into official documents, dispatches and letters....A fine map and roster fill out the effort, creating a worthwhile Virginia unit history." -The Civil War in Books. Parker's Battery was a significant unit, and the good bibliographic materials available allow Krick to cover the subject in depth. Parker's battery of four guns was one of the five batteries that comprised a battalion commanded successively by Stephen D. Lee, E.P. Alexander, and Frank Huger. It participated in every significant engagement fought by the Army of Northern Virginia, and west in Tennessee in 1863 as well.

Lindsley, John Berrian, ed.

THE MILITARY ANNALS OF TENNESSEE, 2 vols.

1167 pages, 117 illustrations of Tennessee Confederates in uniform.

The War in the words of the gray backs firsthand accounts of the war written by Confederates for Confederates. These volumes read like "Co. Aytch" (probably the most popular and enduring of Civil War Books). The purpose of this work was to provide an authoritative history of each Confederate military unit which was organized in Tennessee, and to publish a memorial Roll of the Tennessee Confederate soldiers who died or were killed in action. The unit histories were all written by the men who served in those units. This is the most sought after reference set on Confederate Tennessee. What's the difference between these volumes and Tennesseans in the Civil War? Annals is the Confederate soldiers' account of the War and themselves as they saw it-written by firsthand observers. If you want to understand and see the War and the Confederate soldier as he saw it and himself, read Lindsley's Annals. The Military Annals of Tennessee does not duplicate and is not like Tennesseans in the Civil War. That 2-volume set is an excellent reference, however it contains no first-hand accounts, no color, no flavor, no opinions, no laughter, and no excitement-just dry facts and figures. In scanning it you'd never know the Confederate soldier ever bled, laughed, got tired, or appreciated the ladies. All of this you will find in Annals. Lindsley's Annals is for reading-darn good reading-try it, you'll like it! ISBN 1-56837-310-4 $100

Mercer, Philip

THE GALLANT PELHAM

190 pages, 5 1/2" x 8 1/2", frontis of Pelham, new introduction, indexed for the first time, acidfree paper, cloth, gold stamping on spine and front board.

The first book devoted exclusively to the life of Major John Pelham, the handsome, blond-haired, blue-eyed, young officer whose personal courage and contributions to improved artillery tactics earned him the love and respect of his men and Confederate superiors alike. During his brief career, Pelham was actively and successfully engaged in more than 60 battles, including First Bull Run, Williamsburg, the Seven Days, Malvern Hill, Groveton, Second Bull Run, Antietam, and Fredericksburg. His contribution to artillery tactics improved the speed of movement, fire, and accuracy, which led Union troops to believe they were facing much larger forces. Union railroads and gunboats felt the sting of his fast-moving horse artillery on raiding expeditions, keeping pace with the fast-moving cavalry columns.

Sloan, John A.

REMINISCENCES OF THE GUILFORD GRAYS

"Important for data on a valorous regiment first commanded by John R. Cooke." – Civil War Books. 131 pages, 6 x 9.

The Grays were a Greensboro militia company organized in 1860. Captain Sloan provides an excellent account of the ill-fated fight at Bristoe Station. The author, the captain of the Grays for part of the conflict, wrote a straightforward and unvarnished story of one unit at war. Sloan included short sketches of the Confederate service of many members of the company. Includes a roster with summary of war service and a new professional and thorough Broadfoot index.

BROADFOOT'S CAN PROVIDE THE FOLLOWING: CIVIL WAR SOLDIER RECORDS

1. SERVICE RECORDS — A Service Record is the official record of a Union or Confederate soldier. These records usually contain material such as pay vouchers, muster rolls, copies of orders, parole material (prisoner of war), hospital admission or discharge slips and other miscellaneous items. They may have one or many pages, we have no way of knowing beforehand. If you order a service record, we'll send you copies of the microfilmed contents of the soldier's jacket; the best copies that can be obtained from microfilm. Many soldiers served in more than one unit, you can order all the records for your soldier, or we'll send you only the service record ordered and inform you of any additional records.

NOTE: Confederate service record copies are on 11 x 17 paper, and contain copies of multiple documents. The $35 fee covers the search and up to (10) of the 11 x 17 sheets. If the record is larger than 10 sheets, an additional cost of $1 per sheet will be billed to you or charged to your credit card. Union service record copies are on $8\,1/2\,x\,14$ paper. If the record is larger than (10) sheets, an additional cost of $1 per sheet will be billed to you or charged to your credit card.

- 3. CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE These 8-1/2 x 11 certificates are printed on parchment paper with your soldier's name, unit, company, state and rank (above private) in bold black script. The certificate is enhanced with gold embossed border and flags in full color for the appropriate army. The soldier's name is printed on the certificate exactly as his service record is filed in the National Archives. Suitable for framing; certificates make excellent and meaningful gifts for children and grandchildren.
 $10.00 each
- 5. CONFEDERATE PENSION RECORDS There is a base charge of $10.00 for the search, we will notify you how and where to order the pension application. If the record is from North Carolina, Kentucky or Missouri we will locate and print a copy for you (we have the microfilm in-house), the cost will be $25.00 total for up to (10) 11 x 17 sheets. ($1.00 per sheet over 10.)

- 6. UNION PENSION RECORDS These are records from the National Archives relating to a soldier's application for a pension, or his widow's claim for a pension. These records can contain death certificates, affidavits from officers in his unit, doctors, etc., the soldier's application in his own hand, even pages from family Bibles. These records can be quite large. There is a base charge of $30.00 for the search; if the record is located and printed, the cost will be $50.00 total for up to 20 pages. $1.00 per page over 20.) The $50 fee covers up to (20) 8 1/2 x 14 sheets. ($1.00 per sheet over 10.)
- 7. BROADFOOT'S EXTENDED SEARCH PACKAGE A complete search package on your soldier using our resources at hand. We will send two copies each of his SERVICE RECORD and UNIT RECORD, five copies of his CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE and we include the results of our EXTENDED SEARCH. (We search our large Civil War reference library for information on your soldier. We provide you with copies of any pages that contain information or references to your soldier and send a report of the titles searched so you have a record of our research for your files). If your soldier served in more than one unit we will provide the additional service records at no additional cost (up to 50 pages, $1 per page additional thereafter). The Extended Search Package does not include a pension record.

ORDERING

574 SUPPLEMENT - RECORDS OF EVENTS - VOLUME 52.

Stationed at camp, near Atlanta, Georgia, July 1864.

July 2.— In the morning our division received orders to march.

We left bivouca £5 a.m. and moved to our extreme right, where we relieved a portion of the Twenty-third Army Corps.

July 3.— At dawn it was ascertained that the enemy had left Kenesaw Mountain and was falling back towards the Chattahoochee River. In the afternoon we advanced our lines and drove the enemy in our front, consisting of cavalry and a few pieces of artillery.

the enemy in our front, consisting of cavalry and a tew pieces of artillery.

July 5-10. — After a severe skirmish from a selected position near Nickajack Creek we moved farther to the right and encamped near Nickajack Creek about — miles from the Chattahoochee River. Here we remained until the morning of July 10, when it was discovered that the entire Rebel force had fallen back across the covered that the entire Rebel force had fallen back across the river.

July 11-13.— We left our position on the right and moved en route for Marietta, Georgia, where we arrived at 2 a.m. on July 13; thence took the road to Roswell on the Chattahoochee River and encamped the same evening in the vicinity of the latter place.

July 14.— In the afternoon we crossed the Chattahoochee and fortified about 500 yards from the riverbank.

July 16-18.— We again moved forward and struck the Georgia Raifroad between Decatur and Stone Mountain on July 18, where we destroyed the track for several miles.

July 19-21.— We took possession of Decatur, six miles east of Atlanta, and on July 20 advanced on Atlanta. After considerable skirmishing we succeeded in driving the [enemy] back to within one and one-half miles of Atlanta. During the following night we fortiffed our position.

July 22.— In the morning the enemy had again abandoned the works in our front. We immediately followed them up and found that they had fallen back to their works within the corporation of the city. Skirmishers were advanced as far as practicable but the main column formed in line along the works the enemy had adanated but finally the Rebels were driven book with freadful slaughter. The battle lasted all afternoon. Our regiment sustained a loss of 104 killed, wounded and captured.

OHIO TROOPS (UNION) - INFANTRY.

July 27-28.— We left our position east of Atlanta and moved to the extreme right, where we again encountered the enemy on the afternoon of July 28, when the Rebels once more received a severe punishment. In this day's fight we lost ten wounded and severe puisant.

Inthe enissing.

Inthe 29.— We fortified our position.

Inthe 30.3.— We advanced our lines about 500 yards, where we again fortified and in which position we remained up to the evening of July 31.

Stationed at Jonesborough, Georgia, August 1864.

August 2.— We moved our lines about 600 yards forward, where we again erected a line of fled she had to state the state of t

Stationed at East Point, Georgia, September 1864.
September 1.— In the afternoon when the Fourteenth Army Corps was assaulting the Rebels' works we also made a demonstration in our front in compliance with orders.

SELLING YOUR COLLECTION... Someday?

GIVE US A CALL and we'll send you our free 20-page booklet entitled "Your Collection of Civil War Books/Manuscripts. Selling, Auctioning, Gifting? Someday?"

Libraries - Do you have duplicates or discards for sale?

Even today, with the interest in the Civil War and its books at an all time high, more Civil War book and manuscript collections are carelessly dissipated or sold in haste than are handled properly. Immortal as you may be, someday someone is going to dispose of your collection and, if that someone doesn't know anything about books and doesn't know who to contact, chances are your books will go to the Salvation Army, the library book sale or to Joe the local book dealer who's a fair enough fellow, but who doesn't know anything about Civil War books and thinks $5 each across the board is equitable, including your first edition of Company Aytch, etc.

Be smart—give me a call before in extremis arrives and I will send you written information of my procedure for buying Civil War books and manuscripts. For over thirty years, collectors have been telling their wives "Call Tom," two words that take the worry out of disposing of your collection. However, fair's fair. Wait another ten years and call here asking for Tom, and whoever answers will probably tell you he's not here anymore—he got "called." Happens to the best of us.

Each year, we sell thousands of out-of-print and rare Civil War books and manuscripts. This stock must be constantly replenished; thus, we travel some 60,000 miles a year purchasing Civil War material. Most of our purchases are made from individuals. However, of hundreds of purchases a year, ten or fewer large collections constitute the majority of books we buy.

Though we are glad to purchase small lots of books (25 or less) and individual volumes of value ($100 or more), we are most interested in, and will pay most for, large collections. For these collections, we will pack the books (properly and carefully), transport them door to door in our van (insured), compile a list with each title worth $75+ listed individually, purchase all books (not just the best and leave the rest), and pay a fair percentage of retail value. Also, if you prefer, we can estimate the value of your collection and purchase as is, where is.

With nearly 40 years of experience in buying and selling out-of-print and rare Civil War material, we have the knowledge and ability to handle any size collection expeditiously and competently. We wrote the Price Guide for Civil War Books, now in its 5th edition, have issued over 300 catalogues, and are able to realize high prices for Civil War material. So . . . if you will be selling your collection, or if someone else will be selling your collection, keep us in mind.

- Broadfoot's: About 40 years (39 to be exact) of selling Civil War books full time—more than 400 catalogs. We have sold many of the better collections offered in recent years including: Richard Harwell, Bell Wiley, Bob White, Lee Wallace, Cary Close, Robert Sommerfield, The Late Unpleasantness. In addition to individual collections, we have purchased the Civil War stock of D. A. Bulen, Lost Generation Bookshop, Gitmans, McCowat Mercer, Continental Book Company, etc. With Broadfoot's, you're in good company. References provided—better yet, ask around.
- No shipping or packing. Our competent people will pack your books, load them, and move them from your door to our store in our vehicle. Your books are in good hands all the way.
- No need to make a listing of the material. A complete listing of the collection is made, listing each item valued at $100+ individually with a description and price. We don't buy on consignment—we purchase outright. If and when the books sell is our concern, not yours.
- At no charge to you, we will clean your books as needed, make repairs as needed, fit the better books with acid-free mylar dust jackets and place pamphlets and fragile material in protective folding slipcases. These extras insure that your titles are protected and preserved, plus add substantial value to your collection at no cost to you.
- We can handle any size collection, though the average purchase is in the $15,000-$75,000 range. Most people, even veteran collectors, are surprised at the high value of their collections. Invariably a collection of quality books purchased five or more years ago realizes more to the seller or his estate than the original purchase price of the books. Quite a few Civil War collectors have advance purchase agreements with us. If you have a large collection which will someday be sold, we'd like to hear from you.
